Striking for pensions ● Striking against Job cuts

Striking for you and your services

Teachers, lecturers, and civil servants, in the NUT, ATL, UCU, and PCS are being forced to take strike action on 30th June.

The strike is against Con-Dem plans to:

- cut public sector pensions by a third;
- increase the public sector pension age to 68;
- make public sector workers pay 50% more for it!
- cut jobs, hundreds of government jobs have already been lost in Nottinghamshire
- close workplaces, such as DWP Sutton-In-Ashfield, and Mansfield
- Cut all public sector pay at a time when inflation is above 5% and utility bills will be increased by 19%!

This strike action is not happening because union members and their families are greedy; pensions are a vital part of our pay. These union members have chosen to work in the public sector because they believe in providing good public services for all and taking strike action is never an easy decision.

The attacks on the public sector are part of a much bigger agenda. The Con-Dems want to privatise the NHS, cut spending on schools and services, price our kids out of college and university, cut benefits to those in need and see unemployment soar. In essence, they want to attack every service that we value and hold dear.

Yet none of this is necessary. The richest 1000 people in Britain have seen their wealth increase by £130 BILLION in the last two years to a staggering £396 BILLION. Instead of cutting staff the Government should employ more tax inspectors to get in the £120 billion in avoided, evaded and uncollected tax by the rich, such as the reported £6 BILLION owed by Vodafone.

We're taking action to stand up for pensions and public services for all. Bring your family and join us on the demonstration and rally to show your support for public services and public servants.

Assemble from 11.00 am, Forest Recreation Ground. March to Trinity Square for speakers, events and more. Rally at the Albert Hall, Derby Road.
